Whereas, The admission rate of underrepresented minorities (URMs; composed of people who self-identify as members of African-American, Mexican Americans, American Indians, Alaskan Natives, Hawaiian Natives and Puerto Rican descent) to medical schools are not proportionately represented in relation to national population increases;¹³ and Whereas, URM physicians are needed to expose, advocate and strengthen the commitment to help care for the underserved and the diseases that predominantly affect this population;¹, ⁴⁻⁶ and

Whereas, URM members also are more likely given instruction in prerequisite STEM (science, technology, engineering and mathematics) courses by unqualified/under-qualified teachers in primary and/or secondary schools;⁶, ⁸⁻¹¹ and

Whereas, The lack of encouragement from supporting institutions (such as schools and families) can contribute to lessened expectations for URMs to excel in education and subsequently pursue a career in medicine;⁵, ⁶, ¹²⁻¹⁶ and Whereas, Intervention to improve URM recruitment in medical professions, such as collaborations between medical schools (namely University of California San Francisco, University of California San Diego, University of Maryland, Emory and Stanford) and local schools, have been successful at increasing interest and STEM skillset among URM members to join the medical profession;⁵, ¹¹, ¹⁷⁻²⁵ and

Whereas, Existing AMA policies address support for outreach, recruitment and support of physicians within the medical field that self-identify as URMs in order to recognize and ameliorate minority healthcare issues [H-350.693, H-350.971 and H-350.979]; and

Whereas, Existing AMA policy supports initiatives for furthering STEM education [H-170.985]; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That our AMA-MSS support supplementary programs in STEM education and mentorship opportunities in medicine for URM students in pre K-12 education; and be it further
